

Are You the Spouse or Partner of a Bone Marrow or Stem Cell Patient?

Spouses and partners of bone marrow/stem cell patients go through the transplant process too! If you are the primary caregiver for the patient, you play an especially valuable role in your mate's support system and treatment team. That is why we would like to know more about your experiences.

The Behavioral Medicine Research Team of Eastern Michigan University's Department of Psychology is conducting research about the experiences, challenges and reactions of spouses or partners who are caregivers for bone marrow and stem cell transplant patients.

If you choose to participate in this study, you will be asked to fill out an anonymous online survey that takes about 30 minutes to complete.

You qualify to participate if you are:

- the spouse or partner and primary caregiver of an individual who has undergone a bone marrow/stem cell transplant between two weeks and two years ago
- at least 18 years of age
- able to read and write in English
- living in the United States
